

CLEO T.

'Songs Of Gold & Shadow' (out June 2014)

From Paris, Cleo T performs music that sits somewhere between Glam cabaret, french Nouvelle Vague and electro rock. Her debut album 'Songs of Gold and Shadow' was produced by John Parish, probably best known for his work with PJ Harvey. Lyrics written by Robert Wyatt especially for Cleo T feature in the album's epilogue entitled 'So Long Ago Yesterday'.

Teasing like the glamorous divas of a parisian golden age, Cleo takes us into a mystical ride, a walk with love and death, " A bout de souffle", for a lace corset and high heels demoiselle. A delightful decadence, a la Nouvelle Vague.

Antic songs where glam rock will meets Cha Cha & popular dances.

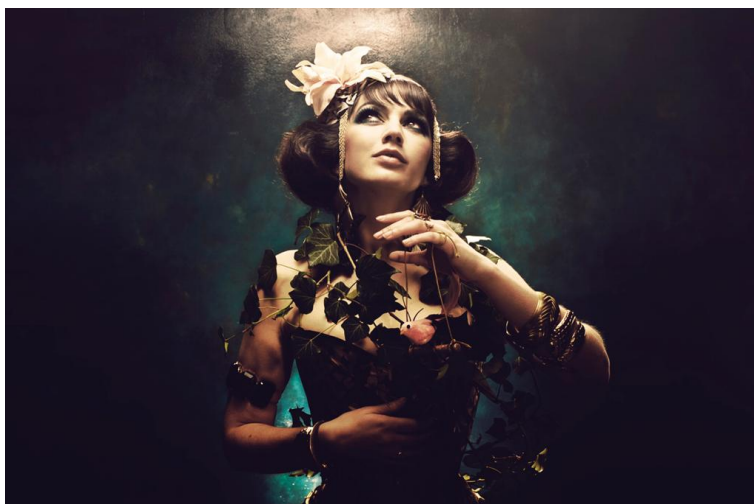

Dark eyes, red lips and gold in her hair, Cleo. T plays mysterious sirens' songs, à rebours, through the looking- glass.

The 13 songs of debut album « Songs of Gold & Shadow » blend symbolist harmonies and ancient Europe tones into dark romanticism and shimmering poetry .

Cleo T. is based in Paris, with italian roots and she defines herself as a european artist. This year, the songstress has been presenting this record in Italy for the Suona Francese festival supported by Institut Français & Embassy of France and then in UK for the international festival of The Great Escape in Brighton.

Playing throughout Europe, she's collaborating with the finest emerging designers and photographs in Paris & Milano, and gathers artists from all crafts as we can see in her first music video : " We All".

The Gold & Shadow theater will settle in different european cities to welcome you into this golden cabaret.
